Cultivating Micro Greens for a Greener Tomorrow

In the pursuit of environmental stewardship, GIIS Whitefield introduces students to the world of Micro Greens. A dedicated compost pit is initiated, serving as the foundation for sustainable cultivation practices. Students enthusiastically contribute fruit and vegetable peels, eagerly anticipating the growth of the first tray of microgreens. Through this ongoing project, young minds are empowered to make a tangible difference in fostering a greener future for generations to come.

Choosing Steel over Plastic

In a bid to reduce plastic waste, students embrace steel for their daily essentials. From water bottles to lunch boxes, plastic is replaced with durable and eco-friendly alternatives. By making conscious choices, students demonstrate their commitment to environmental conservation and sustainability. Through small yet impactful actions, they contribute to a plastic-free environment and inspire others to follow suit.
